Is Goal Set Farm Bureau Membership Drive

75 New Members and Renewals Secured To Date, Says President

Plans to complete the 1942 membership campaign for the Caldwell County Farm Bureau made by the local board of directors in a directors meeting Saturday, March 7, according to P. Brown, president. Mr. Brown stated Caldwell County accepted a quota of 200 members, which should be exceeded before the close of the year.

Mr. Brown said that all farm families should be members of the organization which has for many years fought the battles of the farmers, those out of the history of the country when cooperative effort (like that exhibited by our Farm Bureau) is needed as it is now, to cope with war time problems and to aid in necessary adjustments which must follow.

Mr. Brown stated that a more progressive and sincere board of directors could not have been found in the county, and with their guidance and cooperation he is expecting Caldwell County to secure its largest membership and to render greater service than ever before, and to give the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation's youthful president, S. D. Broadbent, Jr., the kind of support he is entitled to. The local Farm Bureau is under the guidance of M. P. Brown, president; R. M. Williams, Vice-president; J. E. Crider, C. K. McNeely, W. G. McConnell, C. E. George, W. K. Crawford, J. J. Koon, R. P. Ray, Willis Traylor, Mrs. D. W. Satterfield and Mrs. Ray B. Martin.

Mr. Brown advised that in the future the Farm Bureau year will begin on March 1st, and all memberships will be dated as of that date. He said 75 new members and renewals have been secured and only nine days of the Farm Bureau year gone by.

Council Orders Mayor To Borrow $2500 To Pay Note

M. P. Eldred Resigns As Trustee Of George Coon Library; Keeney Named To Vacancy

At Monday night's session of the city council, which was attended by Mayor Cash and Councilmen Lacey, Yates, Jones and Blackburn, the closing time for pool rooms was extended to midnight each night upon request of I. C. Glover, who represented the pool room operators. Mr. Glover stated that conforming with the new War Time schedule the old closing hour of eleven o'clock brought the day's suspension of business too early and that a midnight closing hour is equivalent to an 11 o'clock closing under the old time schedule.

A report of analysis of city water, bearing date of March 7, was read showing the water suitable for domestic use. The analysis was made under the auspices of the State Department of Health. Among the bills was one for $58.48, representing the sales tax on water collections for February. The Collector's report showed the previous week's receipts totaled over $1,200, with more than a third of the amount being from delinquent water accounts and payments on improved streets.

A surety Company's bond, covering indemnity against loss to the city and bonding Collector Garland Quisenberry, was read and accepted and recorded in the minutes. Mayor Cash was authorized to borrow $2500 from the Bobbie Nichols Trust Fund at 3 percent interest in order to retire a note of like amount at the Farmers National Bank, representing an unpaid note dated June 17, 1941, bearing interest at 6 percent. ## "Nancy", Pet Deer Of Coach Sims, Makes Second Escape

This generation that is living now can tell their children truthfully that they can remember when deer roamed the streets of Princeton as they did in the days of Daniel Boone and as they did when the Varmint Trace was not a road but actually what the name signifies. The reason for this not being a falsehood is that, "Nancy," the deer belonging to John Sims, Butler High School football coach, has escaped. The deer was kept in the football field enclosure behind Butler when some boys thoughtlessly left the gate to the field open Monday afternoon and Nancy, being sheltered all her short life, wanting to get a look at the outside world, walked quietly and unobserved through the gate.

Sims says it will not take much of a man to catch Nancy. All a person would have to do is be able to run 40 miles an hour, jump the height of an automobile and the rest would be simple except for braving the razor-edged hooves of the deer.

THE PUBLIC PROVES IT LIKES BASKETBALL

Question of whether the public wants intercollegiate sports continued during the records for basketball attendance in the affirmative recently at Louisville when all records for basketball attendance on the South were broken by the crowd that saw the Kentucky Wildcats win the championship from Alabama's team.

When more than 8,000 persons pay $1.25 each to see a basketball game at Louisville it is conclusive evidence people don't want to think about the war all the time; and that the outlook they seek is sports in some form seems to augur well for morale.

Basketball has become the most popular sport in the Nation, from both the participant's and the spectators' angles; and it is greatly to be hoped remodeling of Butler High gym will win at least a fair percentage of their games.

Princeton will support basketball and the game will be helpful in developing more boys' mentally and physically. For, while football is fine for a few participants and a good many fans, basketball is better in that it produces very few serious injuries to players, gives more youngsters a chance to participate... and, since games are played at night, affords greater opportunity for the fans' enjoyment.

A CHEER FOR STONE AND VINSON

Because a cat may look at a king, let this country editor give a cheer for Chief Justice Harlan Stone and his appointment of Fred M. Vinson, of Ashland, to be chief justice of a three-man federal court of appeals to handle all complaints arising from the war emergency Price Control act.

The former representative in Congress of the old Ninth Kentucky district is a very sound and an exceptionally able jurist. As associate justice of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, he has earned a reputation which, doubtless, prompted this new high honor at the hands of the top judicial figure of the Nation; and as congressman, he ranked among Kentucky's greatest and best.

Only recently we have had occasion, through personal contact and experience, to remark again how conscientious Fred Vinson is and how broad his understanding of current problems. Our reaction on Mr. Justice Stone's selection is that we wish he had more to do with naming the men who will have charge of other controversial phases of our war time adjustment in the good old USA.

THE FUNCTIONS OF AN EDITOR

The title "editor" is sometimes misunderstood by newspaper readers, not because they want to misunderstand but because they have never been told just what the functions are of the person who holds this title. An editor, to explain it briefly, is one who superintends, revises or prepares literary matter for publication. The title does not necessarily mean that the policy of the newspaper is set or controlled by the editor. On large newspapers, there are many editors, and policy is usually decided upon by the managing editor. The duties of the other editors, city, sports, suburban, women's page and others, is simply to carry out the duties prescribed in their particular spheres.

Essentially the editor is a human being, writing and dealing with men, women and children. He may be young or old, lazy or energetic, bold or timid, superficial or deep, puerile or constructive, slovenly or business-like, grasping or generous. He is certain to be human. He reacts to praise and criticism, to good and evil in much the same way as those who share community life with him. The editor, and this is true of 99 percent of all small town editors, recognizes the inherent decency of the country side. He is still sufficiently old-fashioned to believe with his readers that the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule have neither been repealed, improved upon nor modified by modern advances.

The editor is a student of community affairs. He has at his disposal records of public organizations in the community, and it is from his study of these records that he makes his editorial comment. He is not easily swayed by hysteria. Like the people he serves, he uses good commonsense in his reasoning. The editors of weekly newspapers, serving the rural areas, are a greater power than most people suspect, for it is a political fact that more members of the legislature and congress are elected from the rural areas than from the cities.

It is the editor who decides what is fit and what is not fit to print. It is he who differentiates between news and propaganda. It is he who can, if he will, give the leadership that every energetic community must have. He is not hard to get along with, but he has a code of ethics which often cause him to refuse business rather than accept it against well grounded principles. He is not a super-human. He is a hard working individual doing an important job in the community to the best of his ability, and if at times he fails in his task, it must be remembered that he is like every other human being in the community, heir to the frailties with which all mankind is endowed.—(Lexington Herald-Leader)

SLACKERS WALK OFF MOST IMPORTANT JOB

Soldiers of General MacArthur in the Philippines have refused to fight on holidays or to oppose the enemy more than forty hours a week unless they receive double pay for all over time.

No, you never saw anything like that in the papers; you didn't hear it on the radio and you didn't see or hear anything even remotely resembling that paragraph anywhere.

What you did see and hear was that many unpatriotic workers had put aside their tools because they couldn't get double time for turning out tools of war on Washington's birthday. And, if you have read history or just the news reports of the last few years you saw in Monday's refusal to work on the part of many men the answer to France's downfall and the reason of the Nazi successes.

There is one way to put an end to this unpatriotic action. Just transfer some of the fifth columnists to the army rolls. Fighters on Java and on Bataan Peninsula are crying out in the agony of death for planes and more planes; American sailors are dying on the high seas for want of ammunition and guns to fight off submarine attacks; yet a crowd of unpatriotic slackers walk off the job because they can't get double time for working on Washington's birthday!

I'm strong for giving them double time—the kind they give in the army with a pack and rifle on their backs!—(Pineville Sun).

Shaded area bounded by broken line indicates roughly the area now dominated by Japanese in their Pacific thrusts. Weakening of Java defenses brought Nippon's battlefield nearly to Australia's shores. Hawaii had its first bombing since the attack on Pearl Harbor when four bombs were loosed over Honolulu (1). Tokyo admitted 30 planes attacked Minamitori Shima (2), an island about 1,200 miles southeast of Tokyo (3) which itself had an air alert. Japanese planes bombed Port Moresby (4) again. Free French authorities announced that the United States was aiding in defense of French Pacific colonies such as New Caledonia (5). The Dutch prepared to abandon their East Indies colonies for the West Indies as the doom of Java (6) appeared near. Japanese also advanced in Burma (7). MacArthur's men furnished a new bright spot in the Philippines (8) as they sank enemy shipping.

PENNYRILE POSTSCRIPTS By G. M. P.

Everywhere Pennyriler goes these days friends 45 to 55 years old are discussing their plans to get into some kind of war service as soon as possible... Big town residents seem much more cognizant of war's implications than those who live in smaller communities... And most of these individuals seem certain emergency will force them into win-the-war work within six months. Another registration, for men 45 through 64, is due in about two months.

Wendell Willkie may be Secretary of War, with Stimson "boosted" to one of the United Nations super-boards, says a Washington rumor... readers of this column may remember that months before US got into this war, it was predicted here Willkie might be Democratic presidential candidate in 1944. The War Department is a recognized springboard to the presidency in time of war.

Now that all the Big Shots have said their pieces pro and con, consensus is positive there will be no more tires, of any kind, until after the war. Gasoline rationing, expected soon, will be aimed to curtail only pleasure driving at first.

They can cut off the pockets
And clip the lapels.

They can shear from the trousers the cuff.
They can streamline the waist and
If duty compels,
They can slash off the buttons and stuff.

They can snip off the collar;
The tails they can dish,
And find I'm not giving a hoot.

They can banish the vest and,
Besides, if they wish
They can call it a Victory Suit.

Of course, they can call it
Whatever they please,
But still my attention's inert.
For the emphasis surely!
In days such as these,
I think, should be placed on the shirt.

On the shirt! And I'll say, if
A man keeps his on,
Unjittered, with grit resolute,
Why, any old rig that
He chances to don
Will do for a Victory Suit.

Sleep, Sleep, Sleep

Wide World Features
Chicago—The "tricks" listed in The Journal of the American Medical Association as helpful in relaxing:

1. Cut down on the intensity of your thinking half an hour before retiring. (Think of pleasant things)
2. Take plenty of time to get ready for bed.
3. If you like to read in bed choose non-fiction. Force your mind to grapple with cumbersome facts, bore it into unconditional surrender to sleep.
4. Transplant your mind from fears or hates to a field which has interest without excitement.
5. Make your mind hop from one idea to another. Just as the mind loses consciousness and sleep comes, thoughts become disjointed and scattered.
6. To quiet the body, get rid of any pressure or pain. (Lighten the weight of covers.)
7. Tepid bath without a rub-down.
8. Imitate the slow, deep rhythmic breathing of sleep.
9. Relax the muscles completely.
10. Get rested before trying to sleep (by getting into bed an hour or more before your regular time for retiring).

Laugh At The War And Like It---

By Jack Benny
Wide World Features

Women in defense have created quite a problem for me in the emergency. I'm suffering from an attack of Dennis Day prompted by the fact that women now hold important positions in the national defense effort.

Southern California.
Before Dennis started going with Bertha, I controlled him a clock. He mowed the lawn twice a week, sang his song each Sunday and generally behaved like a well-trained tenor.

Now, there's no living with him and Bertha is the reason.

Bertha is a welder at Lockheed. Bertha's biceps make my legs look like priority tooth-picks. And when Bertha lays down the law to young Dennis Day, orders immediately take shape. Dennis respects me but obeys Bertha.

Dennis not only refuses to mow the lawn now, he wants to call "Jack." "No more of that Benny stuff," he says.

And he thinks I should give Bertha a spot on the show week to campaign for the right of the Swing Shift. Bertha claims all radio programs should be moved ahead twelve hours so Swing Shift workers, who know off around 2 a. m., can hear their favorites.

The thing that grates me is that she's especially interested in starting the plan on Wednesday nights. And any way I try to two and two together on that the answer comes out "Fred Allen."

Women participating in the defense effort have my full approval, but I wish that they'd let my tenor alone.

Next thing you know, Bertha will have Dennis asking me to pay him each week.

Furniture is getting smaller and you'll probably cheer the when you start hunting for a chair to fit comfortably into your garden or bedroom. Furniture makers showed the smaller type recently. Designers say it makes living room-bedroom combination easier to arrange.

+ These + Women

By ADELAIDE KERR
Wide World Features Writer

The women of the country are facing the prohibition problem again.

This time the question revolves around serving or selling liquor to United States army and navy men.

Hostesses of every organization, which entertains soldiers and sailors must meet the problem. Besides that some women have a dry zone around army training camps and forts, others think such dry zones would do more harm than good.

Strong defender of prohibition Mrs. Ella Boole, 83-year-old president of the World Women's Christian Temperance Union. She stands the stand of 400,000 other members of the National WCTU, led by the organization's president, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, in support of the Sheppard Bill. The bill proposes to abolish the sale of beer within camps, forts and training stations and to give military authorities the power to establish a dry zone around such camps, etc., within a distance to be fixed by the authorities.

Champion of the other side of the question is Mrs. John S. Sheppard, who is the only woman member of the New York State Liquor Authority, which regulates the sale of liquor in the state.

Mrs. Boole, widow of a Brooklyn Methodist minister, has been fighting for prohibition for years. As vice president of the national WCTU she was in the thick of the fight that brought the Eighteenth Amendment.

As president she waged the battle against its repeal. Today, after years with pneumonia, she explains her arguments as easily as she did in her early campaigning days.

"During World War No. 1," she says, "a five mile dry zone was established around each camp and fort and no liquor could be sold to men in soldier's uniforms. These regulations showed that we don't have to have liquor to win the war."

"But these laws have been repealed and in this war the sale of liquor in training camp territory is legalized under state laws. Accurate surveys show that the men have been exploited—served to come in on the grounds that there was nowhere to go. It is to protect the men in service that the Sheppard bill is being promoted."

"There are some other things to consider, too. The public has been warned against the disclosure of war secrets. But alcoholic beverages loosen tongues and war secrets may be disclosed by drinking men."

Mrs. Sheppard—tall white-haired and chic—and no relative of the senator who introduced the bill, is the wife of a New York lawyer. For 10 years she served as Chairman of Social Service at St. Luke's Hospital.

The women of the country are facing the prohibition problem again.

This time the question revolves around serving or selling liquor to United States army and navy men.

Hostesses of every organization which entertains soldiers and sailors must meet the problem. Besides that some women favor a dry zone around army training camps and forts, others think such dry zones would do more harm than good.

Strong defender of prohibition is Mrs. Ella Boole, 83-year-old president of the World Women's Christian Temperance Union. She backs the stand of 400,000 other members of the National WCTU, led by the organization's president, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, in support of the Sheppard Bill. The bill proposes to abolish the sale of beer within camps, forts and training stations and to give military authorities the power to establish a dry zone around such camps, etc., within a distance to be fixed by the authorities.

Champion of the other side of the question is Mrs. John S. Sheppard, who is the only woman member of the New York State Liquor Authority, which regulates the sale of liquor in the state.

Mrs. Boole, widow of a Brooklyn Methodist minister, has been battling for prohibition for years. As vice president of the National WCTU she was in the thick of the fight that brought the Eighteenth Amendment. As president she waged the battle against its repeal. Today, after a struggle with pneumonia, she marshals her arguments as clearly as she did in her early crusading days.

"During World War No. 1," she says, "a five mile dry zone was established around each camp and fort and no liquor could be sold to men in soldier's uniform. These regulations showed that we don't have to have liquor to win the war."

"But these laws have been repealed and in this war the sale of liquor in training camp territory is legalized under state laws. Accurate surveys show that the men have been exploited—urged to come in on the grounds that there was nowhere else to go. It is to protect the men in service that the Sheppard Bill is being promoted."

There are some other things to consider, too. The public has been warned against the disclosure of war secrets. But alcoholic beverages loosen tongues and war secrets may be disclosed by drinking men."

Transportation No. 1 Worry On Everybody's War List

By Jack Stinnett
(Wide World Feature)
Washington.—The pattern of wartime living is beginning to shape up.

The future still is too uncertain to make predictions safe but some lines in the picture of things to come for John A.

area around camps it is sure to be sold illegally.

"I have two grandsons who have enlisted and I am especially interested in this question. I believe the boys are safer if there are supervised licensed places near camp than if, in so-called dry zones, liquor is illegally sold by bootleggers."

"We now have a lot of licensed places in camp areas. They must be licensed every year and we don't issue any new licenses until we have consulted the commanding officer of the camp."

Public are being rapidly sketched in. To consider a few of the most important:

No. 1 on any body's list must be transportation for it is likely to be the most drastic of all the changes ahead and probably will be felt first. Some here predict the auto and rubber shortages will set a lot of us back on our heels by autumn. That's going to affect home life, social life, recreation, and vacation, and vacations (train travel might be restricted too.) Getting acquainted with one's close neighbors is likely to become more popular than hiking or pedalling across town or to the next village to spend an evening with Bill and Mary. And recreation will be found closer to home than the country club that is ten miles out. As for vacations,

Redwood Conservation Boomed On Coast

San Francisco (AP)—Because the members fear the vast redwood forests of California may be felled as part of the war effort, the Save-the-Redwoods league has started a campaign for help. The giant trees, which are largely privately owned by lumber interests, are prized building material.

transportation will affect them most, but restrictions on coastal areas and a rapidly expanding army on wheels ranging over vast sections in maneuvers, will also have their affect.

(2) Food. There's going to be plenty of it, even if the war drags on, but menus are going to change. Try putting together a meal without using anything that comes in a can (except soups, the supply of which may not be reduced), no spices or condiments that come from the Orient, less sugar (and therefore more sugar substitutes).

No. 3, Clothing. This too, will be plentiful, but it won't be the same. Silk is out and nylon, too, as soon as present processed stocks are depleted. Cotton and rayon are plentiful. The wool supply is being carefully shepherded. Women's dresses will have fewer frills, gadgets and costume jewelry—or none at all. Male attire may undergo drastic changes. Eliminate two trouser suits, vests, cuffs, pocket flaps and possibly even lapels. There will be fewer colors in women's wear and the gent given to flamboyant colors and race-track checks will have to do his sartorial strutting in black and the darker shades of blue and brown.

(4) Money. The prospects here are too complicated for any one outside the field of economy to forecast with any certainty. If Leon Henderson's price fixing works, if wages and farm prices can be kept from skyrocketing and a couple of dozen more "ifs," there will be more money with less to spend it on. The "more money" probably will be in the hands of formerly unemployed; those (especially skilled machinists and factory workers) who haven't for years been able to work every day; industrious farmers; and in the hands of those who supply the goods and the pleasures that money CAN buy. But it'll get around. And heaps and heaps of it will go right back to Uncle Sam.

Beekeeping May Be Revived In State

Sugar rationing and the live-at-home program are creating interest in beekeeping, judging by the number of inquiries received at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Many families are considering keeping a hive or two of bees if they can find them for sale.

The department of entomology says that beekeeping is a specialized industry requiring a considerable amount of bee information. The beginner ought to know, among other things, that bees should be kept in movable frame hives, the cost of which is about $4 each; that bees should be examined for disease and hive adjustment at 10-day intervals during the active season; that the surplus honey may vary from zero to several pounds depending upon local flora, season and management; that disease colonies should be destroyed promptly by burning.

Women Learn To Save Steps

Farm women in Caldwell county, Kentucky, report the following home arrangements: Grouped all cleaning equipment in one place; made temporary closets from apple boxes, orange crates and cracker boxes; made hampers for soiled clothing; placed rags and hooks where the children could reach them easily; provide storage space for bedding; made cupboards for dining rooms. Thus they saved themselves many steps and much hard work, says Miss Nancy Scrugham, county home demonstration agent.

Magellan discovered the Philippine islands in 1521. He also discovered Guam.

Motorists Advised To Save Anti-Freeze

Owners of automobiles and trucks are advised to save anti-freeze mixtures they drain from cooling systems of their cars this spring for use next winter, says Herbert L. Clay, secretary of the Kentucky Petroleum Marketers Association.

Chemicals used in anti-freeze preparations are vitally needed in manufacture of explosives and there will probably be little if any anti-freeze available next fall.

However, there are many exceptional cases where a loan to pay taxes is necessary and justifiable. In such cases amounting to $88.54, was ordered paid out of the City's operating funds.

The resignation of Marshall P. Eldred as trustee of George Coon Public Library was read by Mayor Cash. The resignation asked for immediate acceptance and Mayor Cash appointed Dr. Bert L. Keeney as Eldred's successor on the Board of Trustees. Dr. Keeney was present and took the oath of office. Mr. Eldred has recently been appointed as Special Attorney in the Land Division of the Department of Justice, which necessitated his resigning the trusteeship of the Library. Mr. Eldred had been appointed Trustee by Mayor Cash to fill out the unexpired term of Police Judge James G. Ratliff, whose resignation was made necessary by his election to the police judgeship. The term will expire on January 1, 1944, and Dr. Keeney's appointment is for the unexpired term.

Former City Attorney S. D. Hodge was granted authority to ask for an appeal to a higher court in case an adverse decision is rendered in a case now pending in Circuit Court in which the city is the plaintiff in the action. A petition signed by L. W. Bodenhamer, representing the Odd Fellows Lodge and asking the construction of a sidewalk on East Main street abutting the Odd Fellows building, was read and ordered filed. The petition asked that the walk be of concrete and a WPA project. Mayor Cash said he had received complaint of ashes containing nails having been thrown into the streets, and stated that it was a violation of a city ordinance to dump ashes or other debris into the city's streets.

Approximately eight tons have been gathered to date.

Labor Shortage Slows Reforestation Work In Kentucky

Shortage Of Lumber For Farm Building Seen, State Forester Reports

Frankfort, March 11—Scarcity of rural labor and concentration on production of foodstuffs has seriously slowed up reforestation on private land in Kentucky according to a statement today by State Forester K. G. McConnell, Frankfort. In 1941 farmers and other landowners in the State planted 1,077,000 trees, but unless the demand greatly increases before the spring planting season ends about April 1, less than half that number will be planted in 1942. "This is lamentable," said McConnell, "because a recent survey shows that the war has so increased demand for timber that our forests are being depleted at an alarming rate." This means that there will be a shortage of lumber for farm building, fence posts, mine timbers and other products in the future unless measures are taken to offset it.

The Division of Forestry operates a nursery, in cooperation with the United States Forest Service, at which seedlings are raised for distribution to farmers and timberland owners, to encourage reforestation of sub-marginal and eroded land. During the last seven years 4,135,000 trees have been planted by 2,000 landowners in the State. Black locust, which produces excellent fence posts and mine timber in from 10 to 20 years, has been the most widely planted species; shortleaf pine, which produces small saw logs and poles in 20 to 35 years has also been in demand. Both these trees are useful in control of soil erosion. Other species distributed have been black walnut, tulip poplar, red oak, white ash, white pine, and loblolly pine.

McConnell said "Those individuals who have planted trees more salads—all fine sources of vitamins and minerals.

You can celebrate the day by cutting biscuits, cookies, gelatin salads and desserts in shamrock shapes. Plan on a green vegetable for dinner and do an extra good job of garnishing with cress, parsley or shredded lettuce.

Corn Stuffed Fish Fillets: To serve 4, select 4 fillets of fish about 6 or 7 inches long and 2 to 3 inches wide. Wash and arrange on flat surface and spread with the stuffing. Roll each and tie with white cord or peg with picks. Sprinkle with 4 tablespoons flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon paprika. Fit in to shallow, greased baking dish. Add 1-2 cup tomato juice or water and 2 tablespoons fat, melted. Cover and bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. Baste several times. For stuffing, simmer 2 minutes 2 tablespoons each chopped onions and celery in 4 tablespoons heated fat. Add 1 1-2 cups canned corn, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1-3 cup soft bread crumbs, 1-4 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon white pepper. Stir and mix in 2 tablespoons butter and an egg yolk. Cool slightly and then spread.

Kelly Green Salad: Dissolve a package of lime flavored gelatin, add 1-3 cup each orange and pineapple juices, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1-4 teaspoon salt. Chill and stir in 1-2 cup cubed pineapple, 2-3 cup grated carrots, 1-2 cup diced celery, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper and 1-4 cup chopped sweet pickles. Pour into shallow pan and when firm cut out shamrocks or squares, serve on cress or crisp lettuce and top with dressing.

4-H's To Help Produce Food For Winning The War

Farm boys and girls 10 to 20 years old may play "a tremendous part in producing enough food and fiber for winning the war," says Wayne Stewart, president of the Kentucky Association of 4-H Clubs. The 4-H's are now ready to serve America best in wartime because they already understand practical scientific farming, "and can make two blades grow strong and tall, where only one grew before," he stressed.

The fighting force of America, to be efficient, must be trained and well-equipped and well-fed, the 4-H leader declared. Club members have the organization to produce and to conserve food, and have basic knowledge of proper diet. They can help make good the farm labor shortage arising from the draft and the calling of older men to defense industries.

"Four-H club members of Kentucky will lead in assuming responsibility, finding countless jobs they can do at home, keeping the civilian population well fed, and helping provide food for our army and our allies," concludes Mr. Stewart.

Certificates For Families Growing Home Food Supply

To help win the war, improve the health of the people, provide better living for farm families and increase buying power, the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics is sponsoring a "live-at-home" program in every county in the state.

Farmers who produce three-fourths or more of their food supply will be given certificates of achievement signed by Gov. Keen Johnson and Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the College.

Farm families are asked to have a tenth of an acre of garden per person; at least 15 kinds of vegetables; a supply of home fruits; can at least 100 kinds of food per person; store at least seven bushels of potatoes, root vegetables and tree fruits; 10 cabbages and a gallon of kraut; five quarts of dried beans; a gallon and a half of sorghum or honey per person; produce at least three bushels each of wheat and corn per person, for meal, flour and breakfast food; have a quart of milk per child and a pint of milk per adult per day, and a half-pound of butter each per week; at least 15 chickens per person to replace old hens and for eating, and five hens per person for laying eggs; and at least 160 pounds of meat per person.

Leaders Learn Laundry Short Cuts

"Taking the Blue Out of Monday" was the subject of the project lesson taught to community home management leaders at the Christian Church Wednesday by Miss Ida C. Hagman, extension home management specialist of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The lesson was the fourth in a series of six concerning "Modern House-keeping."

Selection of laundry equipment, use of short cuts to save time, preparation of bleaches soaps and use of water softeners were considered. Patterns for work gloves were distributed.

Leaders attending the meeting were Mesdames Lewis Jenkins Mallory Porter, Harlan Ennis, V. E. Coleman, Arch Martin, L. C. Foley, Harold Smith, J. Wilbern Crowe, J. F. Graham, J. L. Walker, Edd Darnell, Everett Glass, B. Sims and Ray B. Martin.

From PEACE to WAR via RAILROAD

THAT'S A BIG JOB—turning a road from the uses of peace to an instrument of war. Yet all who work for the Illinois Central are thankful that, when war came, they had a railroad fit for duty, ready and willing to play its essential role.

Here are some of the adjustments made in transfer from peace to war:

Already in the armed forces are more than a hundred members of our Illinois Central family—no telling how many sons and brothers and husbands of Illinois Central workers.

During the past year we moved 295,607 million passengers on duty—a job that took 8,592 cars and special trains.

The Illinois Central is the primary agency of transportation for eighty-two camps and war industries near our rails. Of these seventeen were new in 1941.

For the operation of war establishments the Illinois Central last year furnished the government 298 freight cars and 26,880 tons of rail. In addition, we released 87,041 tons of scrap for war production.

To prepare for increased traffic, we laid 319 miles of new rail, rebuilt 165 locomotives and added 3,103 freight cars in the course of 1941.

The Illinois Central Traffic Department has been converted to a service department for the duration.

These are just a few of the adjustments from peace to war. There will be more before the signal light of victory beckons us all into the home terminal of peace.

Canada Looks To Uncle Sam For Defense Of Wilds

British Columbia Larger Than U. S. Pacific Coast States; Population Is Less Than Boston

By Sam Jackson
Wide World Feature
Victoria, British Columbia—A handful of Canadians with a precarious hold on the vast, empty empire that lies between the United States and Alaska may feel American help in a big way if real war ever comes to the Pacific.

The province of British Columbia is a great deal larger than all of Uncle Sam's Pacific states put together. Yet its population barely exceeds that of Boston.

Most of the inhabitants hug the American border. The rest of the domain is almost as wild and lawless as when George Vancouver clinched it for the British crown back in 1792.

British Columbia makes no pretense of defending itself in case that the United States is prepared to defend its home front cut up into innumerable channels and islands would be an impossible task for a province whose normal revenues run at $22,000,000 a year.

British Columbians, whose out-look is plainly more American than British, are willing to do their part. But every thinking man knows that he is living under the protection of the United States and that no other defense is available to him.

Farmers Have Big Job Ahead Of Them

Farmers have a big job ahead of them, in producing the food needed to win the war and write the peace, J. B. Huston, president of the Commodity Credit Corporation said at the annual Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky.

"With difficulties in keeping labor and in getting needed supplies, it will not be easy for the farmers of this country to reach the desired level of production in 1942," he said. "It may be even more difficult in 1943. It will require careful planning, longer hours and a great deal of patience and ingenuity in meeting the many problems that will arise. However, the farmers of this country are as patriotic as any other group. They have a more productive farm plant than they have had at any time previous. They like to produce and I do not believe that they will fail in this task."

For One Cow—For One Year

Here's what the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics says a farmer should produce to feed one cow for a year: Two acres of permanent pasture; two tons of bright, leafy, green-cured legume hay such as alfalfa, lespedeza, soybean or clover; 1,250 pounds of grain—corn, oats, barley or a combination of any two or all of them.

Seeding Urged For Pasture Bare Spots

To have more grass, so more meat can be produced to help win the war, the College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggests seeding mixtures on thin or bare spots in pastures this spring. Much of the 9,000,000 acres of old grass lands in Kentucky is only half a stand. In many instances careful seeding of thin spots would double the feeding capacity of pastures. County agents will offer suggestions on the kind of seeding mixtures to use.

Ky. Farm News

Strawberries in most Western Kentucky counties came through the winter in good condition. A large number of growers applied mulch before the cold weather in January, and have prospects of a good crop. Prices are expected to be good.

Mrs. Eliza Ginter of Madison county, the oldest member of a homemakers' club in Kentucky, died recently at the age of 81. In five years she had missed only three meetings, and then only because of illness.

Jefferson county potato growers hope to establish a better local market for their potatoes during the harvesting season. Plans call for selling to retail stores, hotels, restaurants and other local concerns.

A dairy committee and County Agent Ed Parker have calculated that Fayette county farmers could increase their incomes by $20,000 a year by selling milk to cheese plants instead of creameries. Two milk routes are being considered for the county.

Johnson county farmers are pooling orders for hybrid seed corn. As a result of outstanding demonstrations last year, the acreage of hybrid corn is expected to increase several hundred percent this season.

The concrete-and-brick lined cellar at the farm home of Mrs. Herman Wesley of Adair county still contains large amounts of canned foods. Instead of going to the grocery store Mrs. Wesley goes to the cellar.

The Knox County Farmers' Cooperative Association has asked merchants to bid on supplying seeds and fertilizer.

Don't Keep 'Em In The Dark About News

By Dorothy Roe
Wide World Feature
Should children be allowed to hear what the newspaper headlines say?

This is the question being asked more and more often these days as American families make the daily newspaper and the radio in the living room a central gathering point.

The answer, given after careful consideration by authorities of the Child Study Association of America, is—"It's all right if you don't overdo it."

It would be foolish to attempt to keep children from hearing any war news. It's useless to pretend that things are the same in America as they were before December 7, 1941. Children naturally are aware of the changed tempo of the times, the new urgency. To make a mystery of the war would be not only unfair, but dangerous.

Radio news bulletins offer children a form of vicarious excitement, a feeling that they have a personal part in the drama of the war.

Mothers are advised to include children in normal conversation about the war, but to find other active outlets for their energies. Children and adults alike may develop "war jitters" after a continuous all-day stream of radio war bulletins. Outdoor activities and games will relieve the tension.

Children in England have learned in a surprisingly short time to take the war and its dangers in stride. A calm and intelligent attitude on the part of parents will remove most of the hazards of undue excitement or anxiety.

Children normally are adaptable, thrive on excitement. If their outside interests remain normal, they should be in little danger of "war nerves."

Among The County Agents

School lunches are now served in all districts in Mason county, 1,000 to 1,200 children eating them each day.

Local merchants have agreed to buy all the No. 1 potatoes grown in Pike county.

The chicken business is booming and several electric brooders are in use in Harlan county.

Members of homemakers' clubs in Daviess county are backing a move to build a freezer locker plant.

Several farmers in Bath county will grow wilt resistant tobacco developed at the Experiment Station at Lexington.

The Livingston county farm program includes the use of 20,000 tons of limestone and 500 tons of superphosphate.

Lawrence county farmers bought 60 cows in Ohio at prices ranging from $150 to $175.

W. R. Stevens of Campbell county is considering installing barn equipment for curing hay.

Tomato growers in Hancock county have been advised to make no contracts for less than $15 a ton.

Silver Lining To Sugar Shortage

Don't let the sugar shortage worry you. There are many substitutes and new flavor treats in store for you. Try using honey, molasses and maple syrup in various ways. Children, for example, are always begging for chocolate-honey bar, so why not "honey cocoa?"

Children also might be intrigued with the novelty of honey instead of sugar on their cereal.

If you must kill the natural flavor of grapefruit, by adding sugar, use a teaspoonful of maple syrup instead. The flavor will be a pleasant surprise.

Serve fruits instead of sweet cakes, cookies and pies as desserts. You'll be getting not only natural sugar but protective minerals and vitamins not present in sugar.

Heaven has been described as a land of milk and honey—with no mention of sugar.

even more vital need for annual Easter drive than in past years was stressed by executive committee of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, in announcing the start of the campaign March 12.

The public should not consider this campaign with the Paralysis drive which was started on the President's birthday, said the State Chairman, J. Dalton, Louisville.

Members proved, after Harbor, that they could go on from there. In fact, the facts are that 75 percent of Kentucky's crippled children are included in the Paralysis drive and the proceeds from that drive go to the National Association in New York for the remaining 80 percent of crippled children are the responsibility of all our counties.

If you heat a nail before trying to drive it into plaster this will help keep the plaster from cracking. The winesap is a good apple buy. It is usually available until June due to its fine keeping qualities and can be used for eating or cooking. Before attempting to paint a brick wall see that it is perfectly dry clear through, otherwise the paint will not stick. A little crushed pineapple, drained, gives an interesting new flavor to pumpkin pie filling. Use about 1-3 cupful for average pie. Try slivers of cashews or Brazil nuts in mashed sweet potatoes. To give extra flavor to the nuts, toast until light brown. To remove candle grease spots from your table linens, place a clean blotter over spot and press with a hot iron. Save ravelled linens, wrap them in a ball and store in a box or sack. These will come in very handy for mending worn linens. Cream of mushroom soup makes a grand sauce to cook with scalloped chicken. Use the soup in place of regular white sauce. For extra flavor in cooked green beans, stir in at the last minute a mere suggestion of finely chopped chives and minced sweet pickles. Canned peaches or pears, stuffed with mincemeat, sprinkled with orange and lemon juices and baked are grand for dessert. They are good hot or cold. Never attempt to paint over a coat of whitewash. Remove the whitewash with clear water applied on a brush. When the washed surface is perfectly dry, apply the paint. Remove all rust from an iron fence or railing before applying new paint. Scrape off the rust with dull knife or rub with sand paper. Paint will not stick to rust stains. When you have paid for meat bones and trimmings (rolled rub and the like, see that you get them. They can be used for flavoring vegetables and gravies and for making soups, stews and meat pie sauce. Potted ivy will perk up if the leaves are rubbed lightly with olive or castor oil on a bit of cotton. This removes dust, makes the leaves glossy and gives them a tonic. ## Ham Float Gets More Publicity

Trigg county's ham float that was entered in the Tobacco Festival parade last fall at Princeton has gained more publicity. F. D. Brent, who planned the float, sent a picture of it and Miss Dorothy Street, the ham queen, to the Western Auto Store headquarters who used it in their monthly magazine this month. It goes to 1,800 stores located all over the United States and mentioned Miss Street as the queen, the free sandwiches made from the "Trigg County Ham smoked with hickory" and the prize the float won.

Also in the same edition of the magazine, was a picture of Mr. Brent's son, Benny, who had "driven" up to the store in his automobile for service.—The Cadiz Record.

Homemakers Club Donates Clothing To Red Cross

Officials Ask Curb On Wave Of Knitting To Conserve Wood Supply Of Nation

Caldwell county chapter of the American Red Cross has ready for shipment, approximately 100 sweaters, and several dozen dresses made by the Homemakers Club under the supervision of Miss Nancy Scrugham, Mrs. Frank Wood said Wednesday. These garments were made in the homes, thereby saving the expense of operating a sewing room. Shortage of material will not permit a full time sewing program at present. The Matrons Club has donated Ditty Bags and bed side bags.

A notice from the War Production Board issued by R. R. Guthrie, said the board does want women to knit sweaters where absolutely needed by the armed forces and where the commanding officers ask for supplies. He said that the average fighting man is adequately clothed by the government but there are exceptions such as the men serving in Iceland.

Guthrie said on the whole we do not want a great wave of knitting which will use large quantities of wool, but when a commanding officer desires such clothing he will apply to the Red Cross and in this way there will be no waste of material and labor of patriotic women.
